Feelings emotions flashcards pdf

The first thing I would say about these maps is their cane. More often than not, feelings of flashcards can be overcomplicated and confuse a young student about what they are trying to overrive. If the expression of a character is too similar to a character before, it may not be clear what the flash feels like. These sets were designed with a bachelor party and a girl's character so that the teacher could mix and match or focus on a particular gender in his grammar. Teachers can use a phrase like 'Angry is. Or the boy is angry.. This can be used to create a logical pattern for younger students. A teacher might decide to mix up the cards after rehearsing to challenge her student's grammar skills. Using both packages also allows the teacher to play a match-matching game. The cards also have some empty facial cards for activities. Just laminate cards and draw your feel with a white marker board (kids love this activity!). As a bonus I included poster FREE feelings! Subscribe to our Youtube channel to receive flashcard updates. HOW TO USE FLASHCARDSte emotions Small, portable cards are ideal for word walls, home use and also for word games. There are four flashes on the side. You can pierce holes in one corner of the card and store them together with the help of a pin ring. For best results, print high quality cards on a card or photo paper. We recommend laminating cards for durability.
